Broadway Street in Madison — and most other streets in the festival area — was packed with visitors on Saturday and Sunday as huge crowds turned out for the 2022 Madison Chautauqua Festival of Arts.

Crowds, bands jam at Chautauqua

BY BOB DEMAREE

While there's no way of knowing exactly how many people attended last weekend's Madison Chautauqua Festival of Art, downtown Madison was jammed with visitors and it definitely felt like one of the largest crowds in the 51-year history of the event.

Early morning rains on both Saturday and Sunday mornings were over well before the Chautauqua opened at 10 a.m., giving way to sunshine and comfortable temperatures the remainder of each day and wall-to-wall crowds blanketed the streets lined with artists booths and sidewalks throughout downtown.

Because there is no gate admission to the Chautauqua, there's no way of measuring attendance. But Saturday's crowd, in particular, was large enough to produce overflow parking on all streets from Cragmont to East streets, even as the shuttle buses were transporting many Chautauqua patrons from the Madison Consolidated High School parking lot.

Wall-to-wall patrons browsed booths of artists and craftsmen while numerous bands performed live music at various venues throughout the festival area and around a massive food court on Broadway and Vaughn Drive.

"It was amazing. It was busy really even before 10 a.m." on Saturday, Chautauqua coordinator Kara Hinze said. "It felt like it was one of the busier years." Hinze added that early feedback from the artists was that sales were very strong.

To see everything come together for a successful Chautauqua is "very gratifying," said Hinze. "It's very exciting to see all the people and smiling faces, and see people enjoying the music and hanging out."

Rob Houze and his bandmates were one of the many groups and soloists performing live music for festival goers.

She said it makes all the hard work worthwhile when Chautauqua weekend becomes a time to just enjoy everything that the committee works toward in planning the event throughout the year. "When you see things starting to come together, it's a whole different level of excitement and it renews your energy for the festival. They're long days but they're fun," Hinze said, adding that Chautauqua couldn't happen "without the committee and all the volunteers."

Artists Bill and Gean Bowen, of Charlestown, who make pottery and clay sculptures, were this year's Best of Show winner. They have been periodically coming to Madison Chautauqua for more than 20 years including last year when they placed third in the Fine Art category. Bill Bowen said to win Best of Show "sure is a really good feeling."

The Bowens have been married 28 years after meeting as students at Indiana State University, where they both earned Master of Fine Arts degrees. They collaborate on their art, both doing the parts that they like the most. "I do the throwing, and make the forms, and my wife does all the carving and all the glazing," said Bill Bowen. They both enjoy coming the Chautauqua.

"We the love town and it's beautiful," said Gean.

Living nearby, the Bowens are frequent visitors to Madison, often coming to Clifty Falls State Park to hike, and just walk around Madison. "We've even kicked around the idea of moving here a couple of times," he said. "We just love Madison."

The award for Best Presentation went to Walter Dill and Monica Uhl, of Jeffersonville, with their handcrafted hardwood furnishings and jewelry business, named DillUhlsional. Dill said Madison Chautauqua is actually the first art show in which they're participated. "We've heard a lot about this show and it's a quality show," he said of the juried event.

Dill said he began doing woodworking in the early 1980s, but backed away from the craft after cutting a finger in the 1990s, and instead made a living doing non-competitive partner dance. When the COVID-19 pandemic hit in 2020 he wasn't able to do dance, he turned that into an "opportunity" by focusing totally on design, along with Uhl.

India Cruse-Griffin, last year's Best of Show winner, placed first in Fine Art, and was surprised to be highly honored in back-to-back years. "I'm floored," she said,

Local teen dies in ORV crash

BY THE COURIER STAFF

A 13-year-old Jefferson County girl died from injuries she sustained in an off-road vehicle accident on private property near Smyrna on Saturday.

Jersie Sever, of Canaan, was a passenger in an off-road vehicle that was doing evasive maneuvers in a yard when the vehicle tipped over on its passenger side while making a hard left turn.

The crash took place at about 5:09 p.m. on Saturday just off the 1600 block of North County Road 600 West between West Chicken Road and West Interstate Block Road.

According to Conservation Officer Joshua Thomas, Indiana Conservation Officers were dispatched to the scene and upon arrival located a side-by-side ORV on its side. The female was a passenger in the vehicle and was pronounced dead at the scene. The driver of the vehicle, another 13-year-old female, was not injured.

The cause of the accident and other details are still under investigation and additional information will be released as it becomes available.

US stocks slide deeper into economic slump

BY DAMIAN J. TROISE
ASSOCIATED PRESS

NEW YORK — Stocks fell in midday trading on Wall Street Monday and put major indexes deeper into a slump as recession fears grow.

The S&P 500 fell 0.3% as of 11:56 a.m. Eastern. The Dow Jones Industrial Average fell 141 points, or 0.5%, to 29,585. The tech-heavy Nasdaq rose 0.2%.

The British pound dropped to an all-time low against the dollar and investors continued to dump British government bonds in displeasure over a sweeping tax cut plan announced in London last week.

Markets in Europe were mostly lower. The head of the European Central Bank warned that the economic outlook "is darkening" as high energy and food prices pushed up by the war in Ukraine sap consumer spending power. France, the EU's second-biggest economy, forecast a substantial slowdown in economic growth next year.

Losses were broad in U.S. markets and included banks, health care companies and retailers. Bank of America fell 2.1% and Target fell 1.9%.

Casino and resort operators were a bright spot following reports that the gambling center of Macau will loosen travel restrictions in November. Wynn Resorts jumped 13.1%.

The muted opening to the week comes amid an extended slump for major indexes. The benchmark S&P 500 is down roughly 7% in September. Stocks have been weighed down by concerns about stubbornly hot inflation and the risk that central banks could push economies into a recession as they try to cool high prices on everything from food to clothing. Investors have been particularly focusing on the Federal Reserve and its aggressive interest rate hikes.

The Fed raised its benchmark rate, which affects many consumer and business loans, again last week and it now sits at a range of 3% to 3.25%. It was at virtually zero at the start of the year. The Fed also released a forecast suggesting its benchmark rate could be 4.4% by the year's end, a full point higher than envisioned in June.

TODAY IN HISTORY

TODAY'S HIGHLIGHT IN HISTORY:

On Sept. 26, 1960, the first-ever debate between presidential nominees took place as Democrat John F. Kennedy and Republican Richard M. Nixon faced off before a national TV audience from Chicago.

ON THIS DATE:

In 1777, British troops occupied Philadelphia during the American Revolution.

In 1888, poet T.S. Eliot was born in St. Louis, Missouri.

In 1954, the Japanese commercial ferry Toya Maru sank during a typhoon in the Tsugaru Strait, claiming more than 1,150 lives.

In 1986, William H. Rehnquist was sworn in as the 16th chief justice of the United States, while Antonin Scalia joined the Supreme Court as its 103rd member.

In 1990, the Motion Picture Association of America announced it had created a new rating, NC-17, to replace the X rating.

In 1991, four men and four women began a two-year stay inside a sealed-off structure in Oracle, Arizona, called Biosphere 2. (They emerged from Biosphere on this date in 1993.)

In 1996, President Clinton signed a bill ensuring two-day hospital stays for new mothers and their babies.

In 2003, President George W. Bush and Russian President Vladimir Putin opened a two-day summit at Camp David.

In 2005, Army Pfc. Lynndie England was convicted by a military jury in Fort Hood, Texas, on six of seven counts stemming from the Abu Ghraib prison abuse scandal. (England was sentenced to three years in prison; she ended up serving half that time.)

In 2008, Hollywood screen legend and philanthropist Paul Newman died in Westport, Connecticut, at age 83.

In 2020, President Donald Trump nominated judge Amy Coney Barrett, a former clerk to the late Justice Antonin Scalia, to the Supreme Court, to fill the seat left vacant by the death of liberal icon Ruth Bader Ginsburg. (Barrett would be confirmed the following month, days before the November election.) More than 150 people gathered in the Rose Garden for Trump's introduction of Barrett; few in the crowd wore masks to protect against the coronavirus, and in the days that followed, a succession of attendees reported that they had contracted COVID-19.

Ten years ago: President Barack Obama and Republican Mitt Romney both campaigned in the battleground state of Ohio. Egypt's new President Mohammed Morsi, making his debut on the global stage at the United Nations, said he would not rest until the civil war in Syria was brought to an end.

Five years ago: Republican Sen. Bob Corker of Tennessee announced that he would not seek reelection. Former Alabama Chief Justice Roy Moore won the state's Republican primary for U.S. Senate, defeating incumbent Sen. Luther Strange, who'd been backed by President Donald Trump. (Moore would lose the December special election to Democrat Doug Jones.) Amid criticism that the federal response to Hurricane Maria in Puerto Rico was insufficient, the administration said it was sending a flotilla of ships and thousands more military personnel to the island to address the growing humanitarian crisis there. Saudi Arabia announced that women would be allowed to drive there for the first time, starting in the summer of 2018.

One year ago: The Rolling Stones launched their pandemic-delayed "No Filter" tour in St. Louis without their drummer of nearly six decades, Charlie Watts, who had died in August at age 80. "Moulin Rouge! The Musical," a jukebox adaptation of Baz Luhrmann's hyperactive 2001 movie, won the best new musical crown at the Tony Awards as Broadway looked back to honor shows that were shuttered by COVID-19; "The Inheritance" by Matthew Lopez was named the best new play. George Frayne, whose band Commander Cody and His Lost Planet Airmen enjoyed a cult following in the 1970s with songs including "Hot Rod Lincoln," died at 77.

Today's Birthdays: Former baseball All-Star Bobby Shantz is 97. Country singer David Frizzell is 81. Actor Kent McCord is 80. Television host Anne Robinson is 78. Singer Bryan Ferry is 77. ON THIS DATE:

In 1779, John Adams was named by Congress to negotiate the Revolutionary War's peace terms with Britain.

In 1825, the first locomotive to haul a passenger train was operated by George Stephenson in England.

In 1854, the first great disaster involving an Atlantic Ocean passenger vessel occurred when the steamship SS Arctic sank off Newfoundland; of the more than 400 people on board, only 86 survived.

In 1928, the United States said it was recognizing the Nationalist Chinese government.

In 1939, Warsaw, Poland, surrendered after weeks of resistance to invading forces from Nazi Germany and the Soviet Union during World War II.

In 1956, Olympic track and field gold medalist and Hall of Fame golfer Babe Didrikson Zaharias died in Galveston, Texas, at age 45.

In 1964, the government publicly released the report of the Warren Commission, which concluded that Lee Harvey Oswald had acted alone in assassinating President John F. Kennedy.

In 1979, Congress gave its final approval to forming the U.S. Department of Education.

In 1991, President George H.W. Bush announced in a nationally broadcast address that he was eliminating all U.S. battlefield nuclear weapons, and called on the Soviet Union to match the gesture. The Senate Judiciary Committee deadlocked, 7-7, on the nomination of Clarence Thomas to the U.S. Supreme Court.

In 1994, more than 350 Republican congressional candidates gathered on the steps of the U.S. Capitol to sign the "Contract with America," a 10-point platform they pledged to enact if voters sent a GOP majority to the House.

In 1999, Sen. John McCain of Arizona officially opened his campaign for the 2000 Republican presidential nomination, the same day former Vice President Dan Quayle dropped his White House bid.

In 2018, during a day-long hearing by the Senate Judiciary Committee, Christine Blasey Ford said she was "100 percent" certain that she was sexually assaulted by Supreme Court nominee Brett Kavanaugh when they were teenagers, and Kavanaugh then told senators that he was "100 percent certain" he had done no such thing; Republicans quickly scheduled a recommendation vote for the following morning.

Ten years ago: Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu told the U.N. General Assembly that the world had only a matter of months to stop Iran before it could build a nuclear bomb. NFL referees returned to the field after a tentative deal with the league ended a lockout; games had been marred by controversy, blown calls and confusion as substitute referees officiated during the first three weeks of the season.

Five years ago: President Donald Trump and congressional Republicans unveiled the first major revamp of the nation's tax code in a generation, a plan that included deep tax cuts for corporations, simplified tax brackets and a near-doubling of the standard deduction. Playboy founder Hugh Hefner died at the age of 91.

One year ago: A Texas judge found Infowars host and conspiracy theorist Alex Jones liable for damages in defamation lawsuits brought by the parents of two children killed in the Sandy Hook Elementary School massacre over his claims that the shooting was a hoax; the cases would head to trial for juries to determine the amount of damages Jones and the other defendants would have to pay the families. (In August 2022, a jury ordered Jones to pay more than $49 million to the parents of one child who was killed.) R&B superstar R. Kelly was convicted in a sex trafficking trial in New York, after decades of avoiding criminal responsibility for numerous allegations of misconduct with young women and children. noting the two years are the only times she's participated in Chautauqua. "It's been very, very exciting. I really am in shock. I always do my best but I do my work because I love what I do."

Cruse-Griffin said she appreciates the endorsement of work given by the Chautauqua judges. "That really does make me feel good about my work," noting that by nature she's always uncertain how others will react to her art. "You do work, you spend all those hours in the studio and you hope somebody likes it. But for me every single time I do art is like putting art on the refrigerator for my mom. If I put my art on the refrigerator and my mom goes by and says she loves it, then I feel really good."

A resident of Richmond, Cruse-Griffin came to Chautauqua through the encouragement of her cousin, Cindy Porter, and her husband, Matt. It's the only art show that she brings her work. "I loved it so much here last year that I would come back again," she said. "These are some really great people ... It's been a pleasure."

Terri Eilermann and Shawn Farrell, of Cincinnati, took first place for Fine Craft with Spring Grove Mosaics.

"We were very surprised and pleased," said Eilermann, noting it was their first time participating at Chautauqua. "We've heard a lot about the show and have a number of artists that do this show, and they said it's a good one."

Eilermann noted their work is evolving with each of them creating their mosaics in different ways. Farrell works with handmade tiles while Eilermann creates hers using broken dishes. Eilermann said she developed her interest in broken dishes because she "saw someone years ago that used that medium and I thought it looked neat. I started looking at dishes, and realized how many colors and patterns there are in dishes."

The goal is to make borrowing more expensive and effectively crimp spending, which would cool inflation. But, the U.S. economy is already slowing and Wall Street is worried that the Fed's rate hikes will pump the brakes too hard on the economy and cause a recession.

Higher interest rates hurt all kinds of investments, especially pricey technology stocks, and the market has been in a broad slump as rates rise. Treasury yields, have climbed to multiyear highs as interest rates rise.

The yield on the 2-year Treasury, which tends to follow expectations for Federal Reserve action, rose to 4.27% from 4.21% late Friday. It is trading at its highest level since 2007. The yield on the 10-year Treasury, which influences mortgage rates, rose to 3.79% from 3.69%.

The recent rise in the U.S. dollar against other currencies is a concern for many countries. It dents profits for U.S. companies with overseas business, and puts a financial squeeze on much of the developing world.

Companies are nearing the close of the third quarter and investors are preparing for the next round of earnings reports. That will give them a better sense of how companies are dealing with persistent inflation.

Investors also have several economic reports on tap for this week that will give more details on consumer spending, the jobs market and the broader health of the U.S. economy.

The latest consumer confidence report, for September, from business group The Conference Board will be released on Tuesday. The government will release its weekly report on unemployment benefits on Thursday, along with an updated report on second-quarter gross domestic product.

On Friday, the government will release another report on personal income and spending that will help provide more details on where and how inflation is hurting consumer spending.

BY DAVID CAMPBELL

Friday wasn't officially "Colin Yancey Day," but the Madison senior had the kind of day one doesn't soon forget.

Yancey did a little bit of everything in Madison's 30-13 win over Mitchell. Yancey caught a touchdown pass and rushed for another, accounted for 163 all-purpose yards, grabbed an interception, and set the school record for career receptions with 173 to pass Danny Gibson the all-time list.

And to cap it all off, he was even crowned homecoming king.

"It was a big night for me. I'm just I'm very proud to be on the Madison football team," Yancey said. "I love my guys, I love my community, I love all my friends at school."

Yancey had a huge cheering section as the game started and he did not disappoint. He caught a swing pass and sprinted 58 yards on the first play of the game to give Madison an early 7-0 lead, then set the school record two series later when caught an underneath pass from quarterback Darius Jay.

The game was stopped long enough for coaches and teammates to recognize Yancey for the accomplishment. Yancey, himself, said he's just honored to be mentioned in the company of Gibson, a Mr. Football finalist and perhaps even better basketball player.

"That guy (Gibson) is insane. I mean, he's one heck of a basketball player and played overseas," Yancey said. "It's an honor to be up there with him."

Yancey's record was just the start of a fantastic first half for the Cubs, who scored four times and took a 27-0 lead into halftime.

It was Yancey who set up Madison's next score when he intercepted a Mitchell pass giving the Cubs excellent field position. Van Skinner then cashed in the take away with a two-yard touchdown run and, although the extra point failed, Madison led 13-0 less than four minutes into the game.

Jay scored on a two-yard keeper late in the first quarter and a long pass to Jake Dyer set up a 1-yard scoring run by Yancey midway through the second quarter which, combined with two extra points by Clint Hearne, put the Cubs ahead 27-0.

Madison opened the third quarter with a 32-yard field goal by Hearne to push the lead to 30-0, but the Cubs' offense fell stagnant the rest of the way. A blocked punt in the end zone late in the third gave Mitchell a touchdown and the Blue Jackets scored late in the fourth for the final margin.

Chloe Preocanin

Madison's Colin Yancey (5) leaps over Mitchell defender Ashton Luman (14) during Friday's game at Cub Field. Yancey scored two touchdowns and had more than half of the Cubs' yards in the 30-13 win.

As pleased as head coach Leroy Wilson was with the game's first 28 minutes, he would also like the see the Cubs keep the pressure on later in the game.

"We got the win tonight and that's number one. We got to .500," Wilson said. "Sometimes they don't go the way you want to. But at the end of the day, the scoreboard is all you can ask for. We fought, played hard and now we're getting ready for Cooper."

Yancey caught three passes for 78 yards and rushed 12 times for 66 more yards. Combined with 19 return yards, the senior accounted for 163 of Madison's 320 total offensive yards on the night.

But the highlight of the evening was the record, one that Wilson was thrilled to see his senior achieve.

"You're talking about four years of hard work by the kid and one of the big things that I like to point out is that he had to play with three different quarterbacks which is hard to do," Wilson said. "But he's stayed the course, stayed confident and worked. It just shows his hard work, his commitment to the team and to the program. It's a well-deserved individual honor for sure."

Skinner finished the game with 61 yards rushing on 13 attempts while Dyer had three catches for 49 yards. Jay was 8-for-14 passing for 158 yards.

Defensively, James Schafer had 10 tackles — five for a loss — and two sacks, while Dalton Mitchell had 10 tackles — 3.5 for loss — an interception and 1.5 sacks.

Madison, now 3-3 on the season, heads to Union, Kentucky, on Friday to take on Cooper. The Jaguars lost 14-7 to perennial power Covington Catholic last week and are currently 2-3 on the season.

IN OTHER GAMES

Carroll County opened district play with a 39-8 win at Louisville Shawnee. The Panthers, now 3-3 and winners of three-straight, host Walton-Verona on Friday.

Trimble County suffered an 18-14 loss at home to Owen County. The Raiders, now 3-3 overall and 1-1 in district play, have a bye this week and host Carroll County on Oct. 7.

Switzerland County set a school record for points scored in a 58-24 victory over Southside Home School at home. The Pacers, now 3-3, host South Decatur on Friday.

Witness to unsafe daycare wonders what to do

AMY DICKINSON
ASK AMY

Dear Amy: My family has lived in the same neighborhood for 25 years. We've never had any issues — until now.

Our next-door neighbor, who has been here for four years, has decided to start a daycare in her home.

The problem is that she doesn't supervise the children when they are outside. They are in the street, in our front yard, in other neighbors' front yards, in our driveways, etc.

I can live with that.

What I can't live with is when they are in the backyard, they harass our two dogs. These kids shoot Nerf bullets at them, poke sticks through the fence, stand close to the fence and yell at and tease them by putting their hands through the fence, etc.

I have asked her to please watch them when they are in the backyard, but she doesn't.

The dogs are 90 percent in the house, but when the kids are outside screaming, the dogs hear them and go out through the dog door to investigate.

I am scared a child will eventually get hurt.

Any suggestions on how to handle this besides just covering our own liability?

— Bothered

Dear Bothered: I understand that you are primarily worried about children in the backyard, harassing your dogs. But what you describe is an extremely unsafe environment for young children.

Minimize your dogs' time outside when the children are there. Any and every time you see these children shooting projectiles at your dogs, you should personally go outside, tell them to stop it, and explain that they are hurting the dogs, even if they don't mean to.

Every time you see children in your front yard or the street, you should call the daycare proprietor and tell her that children are on your property and you are concerned for their safety.

If you see unsupervised children in the street, you should immediately do what you can to see to their safety, and consider calling the police.

Young adult should not retire, but relocate

AMY DICKINSON
ASK AMY

Dear Amy: I'm 32 years old.

For a multitude of reasons, my personal growth was stunted after high school, and it took me twice as long to finish college than planned.

In that time, circumstances led to my parents' retirement and prompt move to The Villages, Florida, from northern New Jersey.

Having not gotten my career off the ground, I was forced to leave with them. Shortly after, I was able to find a job I can perform remotely, and I'm getting paid well.

In the two years since, I've grown used to spending most of my time isolated, since there's a sense that there's not much a person my age can do in the country's biggest retirement community.

I'd like to move out, but the inability to form any real relationships with peers is starting to wear me down, and with the economy in the state that it's in, I don't know if my plans will remain viable.

To be frank, I never went out of my way to make any real relationships back home, either.

My friendships were only made at work, and now I'm starting to feel that regret.

The only work contact I have now is with my boss, and the only other person I know locally is my personal trainer at the gym.

I feel like I'm grasping at straws, and I need advice about how to prevent myself from losing any social instincts I might still have.

— Early Retirement

Dear Early: My advice? Get thee out of The Villages, stat.

Given that you are working remotely and have likely saved money by living with your folks, I suggest that you spend the next few months researching communities that might be a better fit for you.

Moving will not magically solve your social isolation, but it's a start.

It's also a brave and positive choice to make. Once you arrive, you will have to continue to step out into the world.

ASTROLOGY

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — Stay neutral and approachable. Don't say "yes" to too much just to make someone like you. Self-validation will give you more confidence than making promises or commitments that you will not be able to keep.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — You deserve to have what you need but it may require more patience. Save your money until you can afford the best. You could be fooled by surface appearances or doubt those who love and admire you the most.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — Do more than anyone expects, and you should receive more than you expect. While everyone else is socializing or hanging out, you can complete tasks and assignments. You could be admired and respected for diligence.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — Your perspective may be off and problems may be smaller than you think. Seek reassurance by asking for concrete proof or evidence. Remain optimistic because a partner or loved one can put things back on an even keel.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — Be creative about making contributions to a project or meeting to earn commendations. You cannot get anywhere if you are just a spectator. Carefully employ wise business tactics and remain kindhearted and generous.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Keep on keepin' on and avoid getting lost in fantasies. You or your loved ones can be misled if you overlook the fine print or ignore hidden problems. Avoid volunteering for or being saddled with new projects.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — Stick with what you know and put in extra effort. Maintain your routines even if you dream of more glamorous activities and feel you are in a rut. Signing contracts or agreements could lead to a future misunderstanding.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — You may rationalize your actions but not your friendships. Since you are most influenced by the company you keep, be sure to keep company with the right people. Show your loyalty and support to your loved ones.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — Avoid an awkward family situation. It might be best to ask for a rain check if invited out to lunch with an old flame or adversary. This is not the time to sign contracts or make promises unless questions are answered.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Keep track of the loose ends. You may find that other people are willing to listen to your opinions and welcome your input. Use your knowledge to influence the results and things can work out to your advantage.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — Roll up your sleeves; you'll likely need to get down to the nitty-gritty and get your hands dirty, and you'll be glad you did. Tackle tough tasks and exceed everyone's expectations to earn extra points.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — Only fools rush in where angels fear to tread. A knee-jerk reaction could put you in the middle of an awkward situation that would be best to avoid. You may prefer to work on your own and chill out in leisure.

ASTROLOGY

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — Loved ones might be elusive and hard to pin down. Avoid misunderstandings at work by concentrating on your job, staying in your lane and steering clear of financial schemes. Speak softly and show consideration for others.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — When you do the right thing, you don't have to worry about the optics later. Don't break up the monotony by doing something original but upsetting. People are most interested in results, not excuses.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — The more positive you are that you're right, the more likely you are wrong. Your seemingly best decision might be the worst, so it is wise to wait a few more days taking irrevocable steps. Focus on getting daily tasks completed.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — Discussions and brainstorming sessions should be postponed until the timing is better. It may be difficult to bring your thoughts out into the open or to be frank with other people. Focus on living up to your ideals.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — An evolving technological landscape can alter your views. A proposed business project may face opposition or lack the necessary cooperation. Avoid turning it into a dispute since you can likely achieve a compromise next week.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Your financial situation may not be clear. Don't give in to a temptation or use a card to buy something that might not live up to its advertising. The more money you have the more you think you can spend.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — Avoid getting caught up in some social fad or pursuing an unrealistic goal. Familiar people and things may evade your understanding so you should think twice before taking further steps. Do not give in to unfounded worries.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — You can be more receptive to people's moods right now. However, since people do not always say what they really mean, it can sometimes still be challenging to understand them. Dig down to decipher the facts.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — Spend more time sorting truth from fiction. You may be briefly fascinated by mysteries or engrossed in glamorous fantasies — take notes to use later. Remember to pay your bills on time and balance the budget.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — The facts usually speak for themselves. You can see through someone's attempt to put a favorable spin on an unpleasant or deceptive situation. Steer clear of gossip and be sure to honor all your obligations.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — Getting organized Is an important strategy for inner clarity; your mind reflects your world and vice versa. Regular tidying up and maintenance keeps things running smoothly and avoids unpleasant surprises.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — Embrace your authentic self. It never works, and often backfires, when you try to make a false impression that you cannot sustain. Your questions should be best answered by tuning in to your own inner wisdom

BY MICHAEL MAROT
ASSOCIATED PRESS

INDIANAPOLIS — Matt Ryan kept the faith Sunday.

As the 37-year-old quarterback looked around the huddle, he sensed his Indianapolis Colts teammates would find a way to make some big plays late. Eventually, with a little help from the Kansas City defense, they did.

Ryan capped a masterfully managed final drive by finding rookie Jelani Woods on a 12-yard touchdown pass with 24 seconds left for a 20-17 comeback win over the Chiefs. It was Ryan's first victory with the Colts — sealed by Rodney McLeod Jr.'s interception with 2 seconds to go.

"Sometimes you have a game where it's just not right and you have to tighten things up, but you can't be uptight," Ryan said, referring to last week's shutout loss at Jacksonville. "You have to be loose enough to believe we're going to make these plays."

While this one certainly wasn't pretty and, at times, was downright ugly, the Colts (1-1-1) still managed to snap a four-game winless streak that dated to last season's final two games. Indy looked listless in all four.

This time, the defense stymied Patrick Mahomes & Co., giving up just a field goal in the second half and two touchdowns following turnovers in Colts territory. The offense, meanwhile, did just enough to take advantage of some uncharacteristic Chiefs miscues.

And when it mattered most, Ryan was at his best. He finished 27 of 37 for 222 yards despite getting sacked five times and losing two fumbles. And he found Woods twice for touchdowns. The first gave Indy its first lead of the season and the second one, wrestled away by Woods, gave Indy the win.

"That's the player we expect Jelani to be," coach Frank Reich said. "He's a big man and he's fast. You could see his growth in the offseason and during training camp. He's just continued to get better."

The Chiefs (2-1) helped out, too.

An unsportsmanlike conduct call on defensive tackle Chris Jones following a third-down sack extended Indy's final drive with less than five minutes to play. Ryan wasn't sure what drew the penalty. Referee Shawn Smith later explained it was for abusive language.

Chiefs kicker Matt Ammendola missed an extra point in the first half and a 34-yard field goal just before Ryan led the decisive drive. Ammendola was replacing an injured Harrison Butker.

Plus there was a fake field goal that resulted in a turnover on downs.

Still, the Chiefs appeared to be in control after Clyde Edwards-Helaire's 1-yard TD run and Travis Kelce's 2-point conversion catch made it 14-10 late in the first half.

But after three third-quarter field goals gave the Chiefs a 17-13 lead, they didn't score again and couldn't stop the Colts on the final 16-play, 76-yard drive that took nearly 8 ½ minutes. Mahomes then threw his first interception of the season.

"Whenever you're playing a tough game like this one, you have to execute at a high level," Mahomes said.

Burrow leads Bengals to 1st win of season, 27-12 over Jets

BY DENNIS WASZAK JR.
AP PRO FOOTBALL WRITER

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. — Joe Burrow played it cool all week, urging Bengals fans to not panic.

Cincinnati's quarterback then started rolling quickly and gave them something to cheer about.

Burrow threw three touchdown passes and the defending AFC champions got their first victory of the season, rolling past the New York Jets 27-12 on Sunday.

"We came out aggressive," Burrow said, "and it paid off for us."

After opening 0-2 with a pair of three-point losses during which they trailed by at least two TDs, the Bengals won the coin toss, took the ball and got going right away against the Jets — who fell flat after a stunning comeback win last week at Cleveland.

"We felt like we were a good team," Bengals coach Zac Taylor said. "We weren't changing anything about us internally. We just know that the season's going to balance out. We're going to start to gather steam and that's what we did today."

Burrow finished 23 of 36 for 275 yards with TD throws to Samaje Perine, Tyler Boyd and Ja'Marr Chase.

"The past two weeks, we weren't being us, making mistakes, jumping off, false starts," said Tee Higgins, who had five catches for 93 yards. "This week, we locked in."

Joe Flacco, who led the Jets' 13-point rally in the final 1:55 last Sunday, struggled against the Bengals in what will likely be his final start with the injured Zach Wilson expected to return next week. Wilson, injured in the preseason opener, is recovering from a bone bruise and arthroscopic surgery on his right knee.

Flacco was 28 of 52 for 285 yards and two interceptions, and was under pressure all game.

The fans at MetLife Stadium chanted a few times to play backup Mike White — who rallied the Jets to a 34-31 win over the Bengals last season.

"Fans want you to win," Flacco said. "They're here to watch their team win. You get their frustration."

Meanwhile, Burrow marched the Bengals (1-2) down the field on an 11-play opening drive, capped by Perine's 12-yard touchdown catch.

Burrow was 8 of 10 for 95 yards on the drive during which Cincinnati thought it got into the end zone two other times. Boyd had a 4-yard TD catch wiped out by a holding penalty on guard Cordell Volson. Two plays later, Higgins' acrobatic catch was ruled — and upheld by video review — out of bounds in the end zone.

"Finally, I can sit up here and say we started fast," Taylor said. "We started clean. We got the ball in the end zone three times on that first drive. The third one counted."

And the Jets (1-2), who got four field goals from Greg Zuerlein, couldn't muster much other than mistakes.

John Franklin-Myers was called for unnecessary roughness after landing on Burrow, whose third-down throw was incomplete. Given a new set of downs, the Bengals took advantage.

Steer's go-ahead homer lifts Reds past Brewers 2-1

CINCINNATI — Spencer Steer hit a go-ahead home run in the eighth and Nick Lodolo pitched six strong innings as the Cincinnati Reds defeated the Milwaukee Brewers 2-1 on Sunday.

It was the final road game for the Brewers, who stayed 1 1/2 games behind Philadelphia for the third and final NL wild-card spot.

Hunter Renfroe homered for the Brewers, who were unable to complete their first four-game sweep of the Reds since 2003. Renfroe who tied a career high with four hits including two homers and a season-high five RBIs on Saturday, homered on the first pitch leading off the second for a 1-0 lead.

Freddy Peralta, who hadn't pitched since Sept. 8 due to right shoulder inflammation, threw two innings before giving way to Aaron Ashby.

Cincinnati tied the score 1-1 in the fourth when Ashby hit Austin Romine with the bases loaded — one of two hit batters for Ashby.

Milwaukee's lone run and all of its hits against Lodolo came in the second inning.

Steer's solo home run leading off the eighth was his second homer, his first since his major league debut on Sept. 2.

Matt Bush (2-3) took the loss. Buck Farmer (2-1) got the win and Alexis Diaz earned his ninth save.

Brewers 5, Reds 3 (Friday) — Andrew McCutchen drove in three runs, passing 1,000 RBIs for his career, and the Milwaukee Brewers beat the Cincinnati Reds 5-3 on Friday night.

McCutchen put the Brewers ahead to stay when he drove in Rowdy Tellez with a fielder's choice in the fifth inning. The five-time All-Star made it 5-2 with a two-run double in the seventh, running his total to 1,002 RBIs.

Luis Perdomo (3-0), Milwaukee's second pitcher, tossed 3 1/3 innings of one-hit ball. Matt Bush surrendered an unearned run in the eighth before Devin Williams got four outs for his 14th save. Williams fanned the side in the ninth.

Cincinnati lost for the 12th time in 15 games. Kyle Farmer hit a two-run double, and Stuart Fairchild had two of the Reds' seven hits.

Cincinnati right-hander Luis Cessa (4-4) pitched 4 2/3 innings in an emergency start after Mike Minor was placed on IL with left shoulder soreness. He was charged with three runs, two earned, and six hits. He also tied a career high with four walks.

The Reds (59-92), trying to avoid the second 100-loss season in franchise history, have lost seven of their last eight home games.

Brewers 10, Reds 2 (Saturday) — Hunter Renfroe hit a pair of two-run homers and had a season-high five RBIs to lead the Milwaukee Brewers to their fourth straight win, a 10-2 victory over the Cincinnati Reds on Saturday.

Renfroe's shots boosted Milwaukee's homer count against the Reds this season to 42, tied with the 2016 Cubs for the most by any team against Cincinnati in franchise history.

Renfroe tied his career high with four hits in support of Corbin Burnes (11-8). The reigning Cy Young Award-winner gave up four hits and two runs with three walks and eight strikeouts in 6 1/3 innings.

Reds infielder Alejo Lopez pitched the ninth and gave up Rowdy Tellez's leadoff homer.

The Reds activated Graham Ashcraft (5-4) from the injured list (right biceps soreness) for his first start since Aug. 19. The Brewers tagged the rookie right-hander for eight hits and four runs with two strikeouts in four innings.
